2014. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. 151 About the Book, This book is a rationalist attempt to resolve the conflict between evil and meaning and purpose to the Universe. It examines the scientific evidence, and with deduction, logic, and sound reasoning, it sets forth a revolutionary concept of the nature of God. As Sherlock Holmes once said: when you have eliminated the impossible, whatever remains, however improbable, must be the truth. God is not on trial! The book neither defends God nor prosecutes him; the reader is not the jury. In the end each thinking of the book, must examine the evidence as presented, and draw his or her own conclusions on all of the issues that are discussed: Does God have free will or just a decision-making capability? but did this also give rise to the very first emotion in organisms fear? Is compassion the highest morality? Is life a work in progress? When compassion becomes instinctive will evil disappear? When it all ends is resurrection scientifically possible? Because it is the answers to all of these questions that truly determine the nature of God., About The Author:- , Bezaleel Solomon Benjamin (Dandekar) was born in Anad, Gujarat, India, in 1938, the fourth of five children to a Bene-Israel (Indian-Jewish) couple. He passed his SSC, in 1951, at the age of thirteen, with a First Class, from Rosary High School in Baroda where his father was serving as Collector at the time. Then he graduated from Elphinstone College and the VJTI, in Bombay, he did his post-graduate work in Structural Engineering in England both his M.Sc. and Ph.D. degrees are from the University of London. He taught for about 5 years at the Hatfield Polytechnic (now the University of Hertfordshire), in England, before immigrating to the United States, in 1971. After teaching for 39 years...
