RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 102 pages. Dimensions: 9.7in. x 7.4in. x 0.2in. Excerpt: . . . of Ireland in 1628, when only seven years old¹. He received his education at the college of Dublin, 183 where he studied with so much diligence as gave great hopes of his future atchievements, and the rapid progress he made in erudition, induced his father to send him about 1636 to make the tour of France and Italy, under the care of one Mr. Marcomes, and in the company of lord Kynalmeaky, his elder brother; and this method the earl took to perfect all his sons, after they had gone through the course of a domestic education; and it is remarkable, that all his children travelled under the same gentlemans protection, who has no small honour reflected on him from his illustrious pupils. Upon his return from his travels, he found a war ready to break out against the Scots, and was pressed by the earl of Northumberland, the commander in chief of the expedition, to share in reducing them; but this commotion subsiding, his lordship employed himself another way. By his fathers desire, who loved to settle his children early in...
